

1956 9

50

20 90

:

五

Mr. Cai Fang

Mr. Cai Fang was born in 1956 in Beijing. Member of Chinese Economists 50 Forum.

Mr. Cai attended China Renmin University, Graduate School of Chinese Academy of Social Sciences (CASS) and received his PhD degree in Economics from CASS. He has been visiting scholar to many foreign universities. Currently he is the Director of Institute of Population and Labor Economics (IPLE), Director of Human Resources Research Center, CASS. He is the Delegate of the 17th National Congress of CPC. He is the Representative of the 11th National People's Congress (NPC), Member of the Standing Committee and Member and of the Committee of Agriculture and Rural Areas of the 11th NPC.

Mr. Cai was awarded several national level awards since 1990s, such as the 2d Zhang Peigang Development Economics Award, the 4th China Development 100 Person's Award. He serves as Vice President of China Population Association, Vice Chairman of China Committee of International Human Dimensions Programme on Global Environmental Change (IHDP), Member of Soft Science Committee of Ministry of Agriculture, Member of Advisory Board of National Population and Family Planning Commission of China, Member of Advisory Committee of the Eleventh Five-Year Plan of China. He serves as member of editorial boards for academic journals such as Social Sciences in China, Economic Studies.

Mr. Cai's research focuses on theories and policies of agricultural economics, labor economics, population economics, China's economic reform, economic growth, distribution of income and poverty, etc.

Publication: Economics of Being Poor, China's Migration Population, Scientific Development Perspective and Sustainability for Growth, China's Miracle: Development Strategy and Economic Reform, China's Economy, Political Economy of Migration Labors, The Development and Transition of China's Labor Market, China's Population and Labor Issues Report (serial books, edited).